EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Eric Sophir on 09/30/2005 to verify that the Applicant intended to cancel claims 1, 10-13 and 15-17 as opposed to withdrawing the claims as indicated in the response filed 09/19/2005.

The application has been amended as follows: claims 1, 10-13 and 15-17 are cancelled.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The invention is directed to a method of updating virus definition used by anti-virus software for scanning electronic mails. Independent claim 19 identifies the uniquely distinct features: "detecting a receipt of an electronic message sent to the local messaging terminal; determining whether the electronic message includes any attachment; upon the determining that an attachment is included with the electronic message, determining whether a time period since a last update of the local configuration has passed beyond a predetermined threshold period; and upon the determining that the time period since the last update of the local configuration has passed beyond the predetermined threshold period, updating the local configuration from a globally replicated public folder within the electronic messaging system". The closest prior art, Zeichick ("Content Security – Keep Your Users Safe... And Focused – Three software packages aim to keep your employee's eyes front and center"), discloses that anti-virus software at the clients are configured to download the new virus definition on a desired periodic basis such as once per day. Another prior art, Hodges et al (6,269,456), discloses that the updating process is performed whenever a client is connected to the Internet. The prior art, taken either singly or in combination, fails to anticipate or fairly suggest the limitations of applicant's independent claim, in such a manner that a rejection under 35 U.S.C 102 or 103 would be proper. The claimed invention is therefore considered to be in condition for allowance as being novel and nonobvious over prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Minh Dinh whose telephone number is 571-272-3802. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri: 10:00am-6:30pm.
